

Several colleges and universities in the United States offer tuition-free education or significant financial aid to low-income and underserved communities. Below is a list of such institutions:

1. Alice Lloyd College \(Kentucky\)
 - Provides free tuition to students from the Appalachian region.
2. Berea College \(Kentucky\)
 - Offers a no-tuition promise to all enrolled students, focusing on those with limited financial resources.
3. College of the Ozarks \(Missouri\)
 - Known as "Hard Work U," students work on campus to cover tuition costs.
4. Barclay College \(Kansas\)
 - Provides full-tuition scholarships to all resident students.
5. Curtis Institute of Music \(Pennsylvania\)
 - Offers full-tuition scholarships to all admitted students, regardless of financial need.
6. Deep Springs College \(California\)
 - A two-year college that covers tuition, room, and board for all students.
7. Webb Institute \(New York\)
 - Provides full-tuition scholarships to students pursuing naval architecture and marine engineering.
8. City University of New York \(CUNY\)
 - Offers the Accelerated Study in Associate Programs (ASAP) providing free tuition to qualifying low-income students.
9. State University of New York \(SUNY\)
 - Through the Excelsior Scholarship, offers free tuition to eligible New York residents from families earning up to $125,000 annually.
10. University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
 - The Carolina Covenant promises a debt-free education to low-income students.
11. Williamson College of the Trades \(PA\)
 - All male college provides full scholarships for associates degrees in trade
12. University of Texas at Austin
 - The Texas Advance Commitment provides free tuition to in-state students with family incomes of up to $65,000.

These institutions have specific eligibility criteria, often based on family income, academic merit, and residency. It's essential to consult each college's official website or contact their admissions office for detailed information on application