

Access to free drug rehabilitation services is crucial for individuals in underserved communities seeking support for addiction recovery. Below is a list of national and community-based programs offering free or low-cost services:

National Programs:

1. Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration \(SAMHSA\): SAMHSA provides a confidential and anonymous resource for locating treatment facilities for mental and substance use disorders across the United States. Their website offers a treatment locator to find nearby services.
2. The Salvation Army Adult Rehabilitation Centers: The Salvation Army operates rehabilitation facilities nationwide, offering spiritual, emotional, and social assistance to individuals dealing with substance abuse. These charitable residential programs are designed to help participants live healthy, fulfilling lives.
3. Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinics \(CCBHCs\): CCBHCs are health clinics in the U.S. that treat mental health and substance abuse disorders regardless of the patient's insurance status or ability to pay. Funded through Medicaid or SAMHSA grants, they provide comprehensive services, including 24/7 crisis care.
4. Reclaiming Futures: This nonprofit organization assists teenagers struggling with drugs, alcohol, and crime by providing a six-step model for steering young people out of difficulties with addictive substances and crime. The program operates in various communities across the U.S.
5. FindTreatment.gov: A confidential and anonymous resource provided by SAMHSA for persons seeking treatment for mental and substance use disorders in the United States and its territories.

Community-Based Programs:

1. Alcohol and Drug Use Services - NYC Health: New York City offers services and resources to help prevent overdose and provide treatment for substance use disorders. The city faces a drug overdose crisis, with substances like fentanyl increasing the risk. Resources are available to help keep the community safe.
2. Office of Addiction Services and Supports \(OASAS\) - New York: OASAS provides an interactive dashboard as part of ongoing efforts to address the drug overdose crisis in New York, offering resources and support for individuals seeking help.
3. Mobile Medication Units \(MMUs\) in New York: MMUs are clinics on wheels that bring addiction services directly to underserved areas, providing access to medication and therapy in remote locations. This initiative aims to ease the burden on communities that host methadone clinics and address "care deserts" where treatment options are scarce.

4. Baldwin Place - San Francisco: San Francisco's Department of Homelessness and Supportive Housing plans to convert the Civic Center Motor Inn into Baldwin Place, the city's first sober living transitional housing program. Scheduled to open this summer, it will support up to 56 homeless individuals who wish to stay drug-free, allowing them to reside there for up to two years.
5. Healing Through Hope Community Outreach and Recovery Center - Manistee County, Michigan: In partnership with Samaritan Health Care, this center offers an intensive outpatient program for addiction recovery, combining in-person and virtual components to foster connections and support among participants. Additionally, Dial-a-Ride in Manistee has begun a new bus route to the recovery center, addressing transportation barriers faced by rural residents seeking addiction services.
6. Naugatuck Youth Services - Connecticut: Funded through Connecticut's portion of the opioid settlement, Naugatuck Youth Services has appointed a recovery coach and outreach specialist to support youth and adults in addiction recovery by offering one-on-one sessions, detox referrals, and on-call support.
7. The Phoenix: A national nonprofit sober community that offers innovative recovery programs combining physical activities such as rock climbing, hiking, and CrossFit with a supportive, sober community. These no-cost programs are available to individuals who have been sober for at least 48 hours.
